

Table of contents

Introduction
Alice Jedličková	...	7
The absent description: compensating for its evocative and identifying function
Jana Hoffmannová	...	10
The semantics of definite descriptions and identification
Marián Zouhar	...	21
Identificatory functions of the description in a fictional text
Petr Koťátko	...	33
The trajectory of ancient ekphrasis
Heidrun Führer – Bernadette Banaszekiewicz	...	45
Time is of the essence: temporal transformations in ekphrasis
Emma Tornborg	...	76
Description and its subject: through the eyes of the observer
Stanislava Fedrová	...	97
The chariot of Thespis
Zdeněk Hrbata	...	116
Towards an adequate storyworld and expression: description in Slovak realist fiction
Ivana Taranenková	...	134
Experientiality: does it divide or link description and narration?
Alice Jedličková	...	154
Contributors	...	175